

Tammy Y. Euliano, an anesthesiologist and professor at the University of Florida who also writes medical thrillers, discussed her journey from medicine to writing and the success of her book "Fatal Intent." The presentation covered Euliano's transition from academic writing to fiction, including her experiences with writer conferences, the challenges of receiving rejections, and her eventual success in publishing both novels and short stories. The conversation concluded with insights into her writing routine, the challenges of academic medicine, and the evolving landscape of writing and publishing in the literary industry. Watch the video of this talk by going to the Meetings page of the RFUF website and clicking on the November 19th meeting. Videos remain active on the website for 6 months after each meeting. All photos courtesy of Jacob Gordon, Saeed Khan, and Robin Poynor.

